NOT A FAD

Electricity in the home, the office or the manufacturing establishment, is not a fad or a fashion subject to changing styles or to be discarded as a passing whim.

It is just as much an essential commodity as any other commodity required in the operation of these institutions. Fashions in method of its utilization may vary from time to time, but its usefulness and the need for it are basic.

We are in the business of selling and distributing this commodity. It is our business to furnish a never-failing supply of kilowatt-hours and to distribute them in the most efficient manner possible.

This is what constitutes service. The best possible service at the lowest possible cost is our one aim, and we recognize that only by the accomplishment of this aim can we discharge our obligations to the individual and the community.

VULCAN PRIZE BAND TO PRESENT CONCERT

Miss Evelyn Pearson, L.A.B.
Alberta Champion Violinist

The announcement that Evelyn Pearson, clever violinist is to appear at the Vulcan Prize Band concert on October 20 and 21 is being received with much pleasure in musical circles. Evelyn's first public appearance occurred at the age of seven when she was enthusiastically received by a large audience.

At the age of nine she was admitted to the membership of the Y.M.C.A. Symphony Orchestra, an organization composed of fifty musicians, and at this age she also gained her first honors at the Alberta Musical Festival, winning the junior violin award, in a class open to competitors up to the age of fifteen years.

Since that time she has had a remarkable number of successes, culminating in the winning of the Clifford Jones silver cup and gold medal in open competition. This is the highest award obtainable in instrumental classes, and Evelyn accomplished this remarkable feat at the age of thirteen, something which probably has never been done before.

In the same year, she entered the intermediate grade of the Associated Board of the R.A.M. and R.C.M. examinations and captured the gold medal in competition with students throughout the Dominion, and has this year obtained her licentiate degree of the associated board.

Kathleen Parlow, world famous violinist, has written, "She is indeed a very talented child and I predict for her a splendid career."

On the same occasion the following will also appear:

John Pickersgill, the Alberta champion euphonium player, having three years in succession, won the Calgary Stampede solo contest, and winner of many prizes in the Old Country. The well known Vulcan soprano, Miss Hartwig, will also entertain her audiences again in her usual brilliant style. Miss Beulah Walker and Miss Mabel McPherson will be the accompanists of the evening and the band will play selections.

Tickets can be bought at any store in town.

ITEMS OF INTEREST

A man almost suffered unjust arrest in town the other evening. He was seen crawling round on his hands and knees, acting in a suspicious manner. He explained that he was just looking for a piece of toffee but that was not good enough, so he stated further, with some irritation that his upper set was in the toffee, and whose business was it anyway.

Speaking of buying at home, an article in the C.N.R. magazine states that the Canadian National Railways system spends annually the sum of $100,000,000 with Canadian firms and that ninety-one per cent. of its needs are filled within the Dominion. This example could well be emulated by smaller concerns and by individual citizens.

COUNCIL WILL HELP SENIOR HOCKEY CLUB

Following last week's notice that the local boys had been admitted into the senior hockey league a meeting was held on Sunday last at which the following appointments were made: Hon. President, Mayor W. E. Butchart; Hon. Vice-Pres., Mr. R. L. Elves, and a committee consisting of Messrs. R. L. Green, Colin McInnes, Lorne Leverington, W. C. Recor, John Dorch, and G. D. Munro. A manager, secretary and coach will be appointed at once. It is practically certain that the council will carry out the necessary rink alterations, and with the support of every man, woman and child in Vulcan, it will be next to impossible for the team to be a failure.

There is no lack of local and outside talent available and willing to try for a place in the team, and with efficient coaching by an experienced player hopes are high for the team making a good showing in the league.

Keep on boosting and never mind the knockers.

UNITED CHURCH NOTES

On Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, Vulcan citizens are to be favored with the presence of the Rev. Dr. Arnup of Toronto, who will address the congregation. Dr. Arnup has recently returned from a trip to China, India, Japan and Palestine and will have a wonderful story to tell of World Conditions. Dr. Arnup has not only this rich experience, but is an outstanding orator and can express his thoughts in fluent language. He is one of the most fluent speakers in the United Church of Canada. We extend a wide open invitation to all who want a real treat. Remember 11 a.m. There will be special singing by the junior choir and a solo by Mrs. A. E. White. At 7:30 p.m. service of worship will be in charge of the teen age girls.

This service will be in charge of Miss Marion Hartford and the teen age girls will conduct the service. The address will be given by Mr. Weale, leader of the Vulcan band. This will be an enjoyable service and we want a full house. Sunday school at 12 noon.

WEDDING BELLS

Spir — Brittorf

The marriage of Mary M. Bittorf, daughter of Mrs. Mary Bittorf of Vulcan, to Mr. Vernon Spir of Calgary, was quietly solemnized at Knox United Church on October 6, Rev. G. Dickson officiating. Mrs. R. F. Jennings attended the bride and the bridegroom was supported by Mr. R. F. Jennings. Mr. and Mrs. Spir will spend several weeks at the coast, returning later to reside in Calgary.

Affairs have indeed reached a terrible state. Not only is wheat the lowest price in 25 years, but local fishermen have taken to discrediting each other's stories.

Keen Local Interest in Fire Prevention Week

"Clean up and exercise care to avoid fires, and remind others to do the same"—in these words Henry Brace, Provincial Fire Commissioner, sums up his advice to householders and property owners generally.

This week (Fire Prevention Week) Vulcan citizens are taking a keen interest in this important matter and the Fire Chief, Mayor Butchart, arranged with the members of the fire department for a house-to-house inspection during which every building in town is being examined with a view to the discovery of any condition which might be a menace.

Vulcan school board and the town of Vulcan will present two prizes ($5.00 each) for an annual Fire Prevention Competition in connection with the Public ad High Schools.

Fire drill was held Tuesday thus demonstrating the efficiency of the local equipment and constituting a practice for our very competent brigade; a further practice will take place tomorrow (Friday) in which the pupils of the schools will participate.

The Fire Chief desires the co-operation of every citizen.

Reasonable precautions will go far to ensure immunity from fire. The following list of suggestions, if carefully carried out, will reduce the number of fires in a community very materially:

Have your flues examined and made safe.

Have your electric wiring and gas pipes examined and made safe.

Have all rubbish removed from within and around your premises.

Teach yourself and children the danger of fire.

Use safety matches.

Observe good housekeeping rules. Keep your premises clean.

Tell your neighbor to do the same. Have an extinguisher or bucket of water, for fire purposes only, always handy.

Keep the gasoline you have to use in a self-closing metal can, and use it out of doors only.

Keep matches in a metal box.

Watch the careless smoker and do not allow him to impose on you.

Do not put ashes in any other receptacle than metal.

Do not deposit ashes against any structure of lumber.

Do not attempt to clean with gasoline in the house under any consideration.

TOWN FATHERS TRANSACT MUCH BUSINESS MONDAY

At a meeting of the Town Council held on Monday evening, it was decided to associate with the health unit now being formed in the district.

The report of the fire underwriters was received and left in the hands of the fire committee for consideration.

It was decided to place a Nash silent policeman in the square near the Imperial hotel—this utility will have an electric clock and moving signs—the present guide post will be removed to the square near the I.O.O.F. hall and the fire station.

BERRYWATER NEWS

Sunday October 5th, was a great day at Berrywater, the occasion being the annual rally of the congregations of Berrywater and Mayview.

The school house was crowded to the doors, many unable to obtain seats. It was a real community service. The programme consisting of responsive readings, "Praise Him," by three little girls; a most appropriate story by Ethel Campbell; solo "Leave It With Him," by Mrs. A. E. White; a practical Rally Day address by Rev. J. N. Brunton, and a rousing song service by the congregation were in keeping with the spirit of the day.

During the service, Lawrence Fredric, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Mensinger; Mary Dorene, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Douglass, and Anne Evelyn Jane, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Strange were received into the Visible Church through the ordinance of baptism.

Mr. Brunton made a touching reference to the death of Dr. J. C. Robertson who, for 25 years, directed the work of our Sunday schools and young people's societies. The congregation paid their united tribute to the memory of this faithful and devoted friend of the boys and girls of Canada by rising in a body and singing "Face to Face."

LOMOND NEWS

Reginald Frost is in the Vulcan hospital having undergone an operation on Friday to have his appendix removed. Everyone wishes him a speedy recovery.

ADVERTISING

Sometimes advertising men find a disposition on the part of merchandisers to offer splendid bargains without advertising — without advising their large numbers of regular patrons about it. The result is that the occasional shopper in that store who happened to be in on the day or days when the special lines were offered, got the advantage. Does this create good-will? People are busier than they were. They look to their newspapers for shopping news.

Advertising is the promoter of sales; the business stimulant, as necessary as the sales staff. Advertising is the store window in print sent into the homes of the buyers. It has the same power today, tomorrow and yesterday.

You believe, perhaps, that you should get money in first to pay for advertising. That is putting the cart before the horse.

Advertising, properly written and designed, distributed in the homes by the proper medium and conscientiously and honestly backed up, not only pays for itself but produces a dividend. It is an investment, not an expense. It is an assurance that business will be good — why wait?

The Vulcan Advocate specializes in presenting the sales messages of its advertisers in a pleasing manner to its many readers, whose interest is assured by a paid-in-advance subscription list reaching out into the homes of this fine farming district, as well as in the town itself.

The Vulcan Advocate

An Independent Weekly Newspaper issued every Thursday afternoon, at the office of publication, Vulcan, Alberta. Subscription price per year, in Canada $2.00, United States and other countries $2.50. Advertising rates furnished on request.

FARMERS' RELIEF

The Alberta Government is accumulating all data which can be obtained on farm conditions throughout the province, in order that a definite relief scheme may be presented at Ottawa.

During the last week representative gatherings have been held involving bankers, livestockmen, automobile finance corporations, implement companies, mortgage companies and retail merchants.

These meetings have been called to present the unusual farming situation existing this year in various parts of the province and to enlist the interest of big business concerns in seeing that the Alberta farmer is "allowed to live here during this winter." The government is anxious that the great farming population of Alberta be tied over the stringency of the next few months, if at all possible, and it is with the hope of reaching some compromise that the meetings have been called.

By calling each group separately, separate conditions would receive more attention.

The livestock men have been appreciative of the difficulties of the program and have made very practical suggestions for the feeding of the coarse grains and abundant fodder in some parts of the province, where at present, livestock is scarce.

With all information, and with a general idea of the attitude of financial houses toward the farm problem Premier Brownlee and his ministers will go to Ottawa with definite relief plans.

LOOKS FAVORABLE

The shipment of Alberta cattle, in which Canadians have been deeply interested, arrived in England in prime condition and well fitted, in the opinion of those who saw them, to aid the Dominion in regaining a foothold in the British market, after three years' absence. Weather conditions are not entirely suitable just now in the midst of a hot spell, and the Jewish holiday keeps many dealers away. Auction selling does not obtain at Birkenhead, consequently all sales are conducted direct with the buyers, with the meat trade taking its share of the general trade. Hence the sales of these Canadian cattle may not be rapid, but it is expected the price will be equal to the best obtainable for Irish beef, namely eight and a half pence to nine pence per pound.

UNWRITTEN LAWS

In observing the various crimes of robbery that have occurred within recent date in this part of the country, there are some which have displayed obliquities of character, quite as serious as the major act of stealing.

In one instance a young man loitered behind his harvest-field pal, and striking him on the back of the head with a stone, robbed him of all his earnings and left him unconscious at the side of the road.

In another case a man robbed his bunkie who had trusted him.

In another, a woman acted as decoy, feigning some car difficulty in order to attract the chivalry of the passing stranger and give her companions a chance for a successful hold up.

These crimes, outside of the actual offence of stealing, are revolting. They outrage the traditional standards of honor and friendship which we are pleased to think of as "Anglo-Saxon" standards. These are the unwritten laws, whose influence we inherit and seek to pass on to our children.

To most of us, the betrayal of friendship is a most serious offence, violating all the best instincts of human beings. The demands of friendship are beautiful but intangible. They are outside and above man-made laws.

When one harvest hand attacks his chum and robs him of his earnings, it is evidence of a distorted nature, dark and evil.

Similarly the woman who exploits her apparent helplessness, who uses her sex unfairly, commits an offence against all womanhood. She is a traitor.

It is in the homes and in the schools that instruction is given in this unwritten code of honorable conduct. And it is only there it may be deeply implanted. A child wisely taught to value the joys of friendship, of sportmanship, of personal integrity is well equipped for life. He will not violate those ingrained rules. He understands the value of "playing the game."

If the early training of these "out-cast" offenders against the best instincts of humanity were traced, it is almost certain that their home training would be found to be at fault.

STATE WHEAT

The Imperial Conference will have a delicate task on its hands in considering the state purchase of wheat imports.

The main argument for it is that concentrated pool selling calls for concentrated wheat buying. As it is over 60 per cent. of all British flour is manufactured by three combines.

The advocates of state buying promise the British farmer the advantage of steady prices instead of fluctuations. The consumer is promised a saving in commissions, speculative profits, transport, etc.

Many millers and merchants are antagonistic to state buying. They say official buyers can not get the low prices of private buyers. They would not dare to the risk of shortage and would have to play safe.

Again, limiting purchases to Empire wheat would reduce wheat production in Argentina, and in years of crop shortage in Canada and Australia, the wheat situation might be jeopardized. Recourse to Argentina might save a critical situation. To be sure there is no reason to believe that an import board would not buy from foreign sources.

The political argument against import boards is that it might cause differences between buyers and sellers about prices to become disputes between governments, with danger to international and inter-imperial relations. There appears to be some soreness in Canada because British millers and merchants refused to pay Canadian prices last year and satisfied their requirements from Argentina instead of Canada. It would have been a more delicate situation if a British government authority had been responsible for refusing business to Canada.

Old Dug-Out Rests From World Cruise

The old "Tillicum", battered and storm-torn, but still gallant under its new coat of paint, was brought from a marine graveyard on the banks of the Thames, London, recently, and placed on public inspection in front of the famous Crystal Gardens, Victoria, B.C., where it is becoming one of the sights of the British Columbia capital. The old dug-out canoe was built by Indians near Victoria more than 129 years ago and a century later carried Captain J. C. Voss and N. K. Luxton, Banff newspaperman, on a round-the-world trip in 1901 of 40,000 miles, weathering typhoons in the Pacific and hurricanes in the Atlantic. The canoe was brought to Victoria through the efforts of George I. Warren, commissioner, and other officials of the Victoria and Vancouver Island Publicity Bureau. Picture shows close-up of the old dug-out.

Calgary Herald

Six teams will likely operate in the Southern Alberta Senior amateur hockey league this winter. Vulcan has again made application for admission to the group, and following a vote of five clubs that made up the league last year, it has been officially announced that the majority voted in favor of taking in the new team. This action will probably be confirmed at the annual meeting of the league, which will be held early in November. It is expected that the five teams that made up the group last year will continue their affiliation this season. Reports indicate that all the clubs have been making plans for the season. High River Fliers, Turner Valley-Okotoks Oilers, Drumheller Miners, and the two Calgary teams, Maroons and Bronks, made up the league last year. Vulcan has the material for a strong club this season. Several star players from all parts of Canada took up residence in the southern town last spring, and with a number of home town lads also in the running for regular positions, Vulcan should be a strong contender for the championship from the start.

Calgary Albertan

For many years Vulcan has been a live-wire sports centre, particularly so far as boxing and soccer were concerned. A first class hockey team was supported about three years ago with good success. The promoters, however, wanted to give the fans better hockey, and to do this they had to seek entrance to the Alberta league, only senior hockey organization in Southern Alberta. With the assurance of first class hockey, the town council of Vulcan, headed by that well known sportsman, Mayor W. Butchart, will make the necessary improvements to the rink. Seating capacity will be provided for 1,500, while the ice surface will be enlarged to 175x76 feet. The six-team circuit will be a compact one, as Vulcan is only 40 miles from High River, less than 60 from Okotoks, while the Oilers make their home, 80 from Calgary, and good train and bus service makes the longest jump to Drumheller no hardship on any of the clubs.

Lethbridge Herald

"We're in the league." This was the message rapidly and enthusiastically conveyed other on Wednesday afternoon, following the receipt of information by phone from George Munro at Calgary, that admission to the senior hockey league had been granted to the Vulcan club. This was good news to everybody, and the broadcast of the fact in the sport columns of the Herald will command interest of many readers. Representing the Vulcan hockey promoters, Geo. Munro and Colin McInnes have been in Calgary for a couple of days in the effort to secure the decision as to the club membership in the big league, and though short of details to report at present, there is gratification and satisfaction in the authentic advice that this winter the Vulcan team will have the privilege of figuring in the competition with the two Calgary teams, High River, Okotoks and Drumheller. Now the finish will be made to the organization that has been promoted since the conclusion of the last season of hockey.

FARM FUTURE

Two Likely Roads Which Western Farmer May Take in Future Growth

Apparently there exist two alternatives for the future of Western Canadian farming. Either the turning of the major energies of the farmer from grain growing to mixed farming, or else the turning of wheat farming, into big business. The latter would eliminate the human element, and involve complete mechanization. It would swallow up the small farms and operate huge tracts which would belong to a company. Only on large production basis, can production costs be reduced. The small farmer would sell his farm to the big operator or stay in the "pool".

Russia is an example of wheat production on a huge scale. There it has been found that 117,000 acres can be operated with 169 employees, and the use of 130 trucks and combines with their workers. This brings very low costs.

American States, are inclined to follow Russia's example. If Canada, Australia, the Argentine all fall in line in similar fashion, these huge wheat producing areas will flood the world with still cheaper wheat. Some of the rival wheat growing countries possess very fertile and largely virgin soil. They could compete seriously with the Canadian wheat.

Added to this, the constant cropping would inevitably react on soil fertility, requiring fertilizer which also would have to be added to costs even if wheat were produced more cheaply.

Against this, the other alternative—mixed farming is presented. The prairies have great possibilities in this regard, and are well adapted for mixed farming.

It would ensure the man on his quarter or half section, living his chosen life of independence. It would ensure the continued existence of the large farming population so desirable to the West.

LITTLE GREY HOME

Passing of the Small Farm Predicted Mechanized Farming Responsible

That the Western farm should be larger was the view of Mr. E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, expressed in Regina a few days since. A conference of agricultural economists also in Regina had only a few days before that reached the conclusion that the farming of tomorrow will be a thing not of mere sections but of 100,000-acre tracts made not only possible but in some measure necessary by the extensive use of machinery in all farming operations. The farm of tomorrow, in other words, will be something of a factory and agriculture a manufacturing enterprise. The half-section farmer will then be reduced to the status of a vacant lot market gardener, soon to be either squeezed out of business or absorbed into the large corporation. The future of Western farming, then, becomes an interesting subject for conjecture.—Albertan.

IRELAND SINKING

Green Isle of Erin Said to be Slowly Vanishing Under the Sea

The Royal Irish academy, Ireland's most learned body, has been debating the suggestion that Ireland is gradually sinking into the sea. The marine erosion, especially on the east coast, has become serious. A learned engineer pointed out that during the past winter at many points there has been a marked lowering of the beach level. The director of the state's geological survey said this coast depression was not merely local, but part of a depression affecting Western Europe. The land is rising the more rapidly. The sinking is a few centimeters per century, sinking at present because, while both land and sea are rising, the sea

DUMPING METHODS

The menace of Russian wheat lies not so much in its volume as in the marketing method which the soviet employs, Hon. Robert Weir, federal minister of agriculture, says.

"The Russians appear to have developed a particularly sinister marketing system," the minister explained. "They take a quantity of wheat and dump it on the market all at once and give the impression of having an unlimited volume. That breaks the market and creates a panic among the growers. They think that there is no outlet for their wheat, whereas there is, of course, always an outlet."

The minister would not forecast how long the present Russian situation would overhang the market.

WATCH THE ADS

Good News For Hard Times May be Gleaned by Reading Local Ads.

Those who are checking closely these days on all household purchases, cannot fail to note that there is a downward trend amongst many classes of staples. Contrary to belief, wheat is not the only commodity which is dropping in price. One local merchant reports that in checking over price lists, during the last few months, 95 per cent. of the changes in price, have been downward changes. In many instances, the retailer is the loser, because he has already bought his stock, but he must submit to the prevailing price, and takes his cut accordingly.

The drop per pound or per article may be a matter only of a few cents per article or a cent per pound, but in the total of business it mounts up to a substantial sum.

At present the tendency of general commodities is downward and it will pay the careful shopper to study the advertisements, and to take advantage of the bargains which are offered.

G. F. Chipman, editor of the Country Guide, predicts that the near future will see orchards of standard eating apples in all parts of the Prairies where wheat is now grown successfully.

HAIL LOSS HEAVY

Province Wide Hail Loss This Year Exceeded Only by 1927 Season

Hail losses in the Province of Alberta were heavier during the 1930 season than in any previous year, with the exception of 1927, according to officials of the Hail Insurance Board of Alberta, which held a special meeting in Calgary on Tuesday for the settlement of rates of insurance for 1930, under the municipal plan.

There were 1,238,000 acres insured by the board part at $10 per acre, part at $8 and the balance at $6, making a total risk carried of $11,000,000. This was an increase of 40 per cent. over the previous year. The loss, however, was out of all proportion to that of 1929 and amounted to approximately $1,800,000 more than 16 per cent. of the risk carried. The loss in 1927 was 18 per cent. of the risk; in 1928, 12 per cent. and in 1929 a little over 7 per cent.

If R. B. Bennett keeps up the energetic leadership, so far displayed, Canadians can never be said to be as sheep not having a shepherd. Some to be sure, may be dubious about whether they are being led to green pastures or rocky cliffs, but they can have no doubt that they're on the way.

BUYING FEEDERS

Saskatchewan Govt. Manipulating Matters to Bring Stock and Feed Together

Under a scheme devised by the Saskatchewan government, credit up to 75 per cent. of the value of stock will be obtainable for Saskatchewan farmers who have a surplus of feed grain and wish to obtain stock for finishing.

A new option is created under the livestock purchase and sales act, by which farmers with the fodder, the equipment and the ability to feed cattle will be given credit up to 75 per cent. to finance purchases.

In order that the plan may advance on a permanent foundation, the applicants for credit must be approved by the agriculture department and their premises open to inspection.

The stock is purchased at Saskatchewan stock yards and purchasers will have the expenses incurred in travelling to the yards, refunded.

The railroads will co-operate by moving the stock at 75 per cent. the regular tariff rates.

All stock fattened under this policy must be sold on a public stock yard and through a bonded commission dealer.

This will promote the home finishing of stock which governments are encouraging.

NASH

Announces

3 new EIGHTS and a new SIX

NEVER was such motor car quality offered at prices so sensationally low. The literally startling difference becomes at once apparent when you contrast the prices of the new and finer Nash series, with prices of corresponding models a year ago.

Its low non-productive overhead, its elimination of borrowed capital, and remarkably foresighted manufacturing alone enable Nash to offer so much for so little. The unique example in value-giving thus provided the industry was planned last November. At that time, C. W. Nash and the strong group of executives surrounding him, clearly foresaw present conditions. They at once began to design cars affording value so great, so unmistakable, as to overcome all buying reluctance.

The result is instantly apparent. Even casual inspection of the four new Nash cars establishes the fact that nothing even remotely approaching them in downright dollar value has ever been available in their respective price fields.

SENSATIONALLY PRICED!

STUDY THESE SENSATIONAL PRICES!

Compare what is probably the most remarkable achievement of Nash, in greater value-giving—the New Six—with the Single Six it succeeds. The New Six offers a multitude of superiorities—at prices which range from $205 to $180 below the prices of the Single Six.

| Body Style | The New Six W. B. 114½" | Last Year's Six W. B. 114½" | Price Difference |

| Coupe (rumble seat) | $1060 | $1260 | —$200 |
| Sedan (2-door) | $1025 | $1205 | —$180 |

Compare the New Eight-70 with its two additional cylinders, its longer wheelbase, its larger, more luxurious body, with the six-cylinder car it replaces. Then consider the remarkable fact that there is actually a basic price differential in favor of the new Eight!

| Special Sedan (4-door) | $1230 | | |

Compare the New Twin-Ignition Eight-80 with the 6-cylinder car it replaces. The Eight-80 is larger, longer. Design, appointments, upholstery are finer—prices are radically lower.

Plans Canada's Finest Terminal

Sir Henry Thornton, Chairman and President of the Canadian National Railways, inspects the model of the $50,000,000 terminal which his company has started to build at Montreal. The building to which the railway president is pointing is the proposed central passenger station and office building in the heart of the theatre and business district of Canada's metropolis. The plans provide for electrification of all passenger lines entering the terminal and make adequate provision for long distance and rapid transit traffic as well as for development of freight facilities which Montreal will need during the coming years.

High River Newspaper Man Writes on Eastern Progress

Charles Clark, Owner of This Paper, Tells Interesting Story of Eastern Trip

From the commencement of the eastward bound journey on September 4th, to attend the Canadian Weekly Newspapers' convention, the atmosphere of the C.P.R. was very parliamentary. Western legislators of every political belief were on the train heading for the special session at Ottawa, and an enjoyable fraternal spirit was evident. Amongst them were General Stewart, Garland, Gershaw, Kennedy of Peace River, Lucas, Dr. Stanley, Luckovitch of Alberta, Sterling of Yale, F. C. Fraser from Caribou, Senator Forke and many others. All were actuated with a keen desire that the special session should prove constructive, and each one in some distinctive way left a fine impression of earnestness of purpose and capability. The West can have confidence in the type of men who have been chosen as representatives.

The train trip afforded also a good opportunity of learning how great men relax, and judging from a casual survey, I should say that many of our parliamentarians have a great leaning to mystery novels. Perhaps they find that this is the suitable atmosphere in attacking Ottawa.

Several hours at Montreal gave a fine opportunity for viewing points of interest. Every courtesy and every facility for comfort was offered by the C.P.R. and the long journey to Halifax was concluded with a delightful trip from St. Johns to Digby by C.P.R. boat and thence to Halifax.

Halifax

Active organizations have the progress of Halifax at heart and there is a live, aggressive spirit in the city. At present efforts are being made to secure terminal elevators at the harbor in order that it may develop seaport trade as Montreal has done. It is generally conceded that Nova Scotia is today enjoying the fruits of the Duncan Act, and largely for that reason, the province appears to be under less depression than obtains elsewhere.

The new C.N.R. hotel is an institution which adds another link to the wonderful transcontinental chain, which has seen such invigorating development under Sir Henry Thornton's control. As a hotel it is the last word in beauty and comfort. The Lord Nelson hotel also is a no less creditable hostelry. It is the product of community subscription, added to by the C.P.R. which has assumed management and conducts it most successfully.

In the midst of vigor and progress, parts of the city still bear the almost ineradicable mark of the terrible Halifax explosion of war years. It will be remembered that the wreckage of portions of the city resulted from the collision of two vessels (one heavily laden with ammunition) in the harbor. Hundreds were blinded by the shattering of glass alone. While the devastated portions are being steadily rebuilt, there remain sufficient evidences to impress the stranger with what the city must have suffered. One curiosity rouses interest. It is the wreckage of an Anglican church on one of the windows of which appeared, after the explosion, a perfect silhouette of a former pastor who had died before the disaster.

Rural Scotia

A delightful time was spent at New Glasgow, as the guest of Mr. Don Fraser, editor of the Eastern Chronicle, one of the influential papers of the province. Mr. Fraser's father before him, was one of the early newspaper men of Nova Scotia a man of great influence, and the old files of the Chronicle contain material of much historical value. Mr. Fraser's name is mentioned as a possible leader of the Liberal party for Nova Scotia.

At New Glasgow was more evidence of industrial activity. It is here Steel Co. with plants all in operation. The car works there are on the headquarters of the British Empire at present, but indications are good for a full time payroll. The town is proud of an impressive war memorial in bronze, depicting a Scottish piper and is so life-like as to cause the observer to wait in expectancy for the strains of McGregor's lament. In that Scottish settlement religious questions are not settled in a day and despite church union three Presbyterian churches function with conviction, and it is only within recent date that a huge United Church has been erected for worship.

Antigonish

Motor drives through Antigonish afforded scenes of ever-changing beauty. Along the ocean drives lay the outline of P.E.I. across the channel, and fertile well-kept farms extended to the shore-line. Along the shore, the farmers hark back to their fisherman ancestry, and as a side line make from $1000 to $1500 a year from clam and lobster fishing.

The town of Antigonish itself is a great educational centre, and in addition has one of the most up-to-date hospitals in the Dominion.

At intervals through the rural parts of the country, were evidences of the early settlers. Disused old mills stood solid but deserted, and one might come across old grinding machines by which the grain was ground between grooved stones. Here and there were mute signs of the indomitable courage of the pioneers who first cleared and peopled the primeval forest. In this connection also, a story is told of the dikes of the Bay of Fundy in the vicinity of Wolfville. Those dikes built 150 years ago by the settlers of that time, have broken at scattered points. And today all the ingenuity and skill of modern engineering cannot duplicate the staunch structure of 154 years ago. The secret has been lost.

No tour of Nova Scotia would not be complete without a glimpse of Pictou that far-famed summer resort boasting one of the finest nine-hole golf courses to be found not only as a golf links but as a revelation of scenic beauty. Here we were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fraser who exemplified the finest in Nova Scotian hospitality. The Pictou Lodge is another C.N.R. triumph, fashioned after Jasper Lodge, and situated on a knoll overlooking the Straits. One of the features of the town is a monument to Scottish forbears, a Scottish warrior in bronze and a vital memorial.

Nova Scotia last July adopted government control and already the dividends of the bootlegger are reduced

EASTERN TRIP

All Maritimers are politicians deeply concerned with Provincial and Dominion legislation. Premier Rhodes has retired from that position to take office with Prime Minister Bennett. He is considered very able and conscientious. Everywhere, as in other provinces, is the hope expressed that the new government may function wisely. There is confidence in Bennett and the desire to give him every assistance in trying out his policy of protection.

Man From Home

It was in Nova Scotia that I had a cheering encounter. After dining with friends, I hurried to the hotel desk to pay the charges. A voice beside me said: "High River money is no good here," and I was elbowed out of the way. Still with my mind on my original purpose I signalled to the desk manager, but he smiled broadly and said "I guess High River money's no good." So I turned to see who was shoving me around, and trying to pay my bills. It was none other than Mr. McIntosh, formerly of Vulcan, now residing in Nova Scotia. We had a great chat.

Quebec

On the return trip from Nova Scotia were delegates to the Good Roads convention to be held in Quebec. Ex-Premier Arsenault of P.E.I., was a delegate and representatives were in attendance from every province as well as Britain, New Zealand and U. S. Through rural Quebec in the course of travel were innumerable little towns with the huge Cathedral spires dwarfing all other structures.

On reaching the city of Quebec, I attended several of the Good Roads sessions. Alberta was ably represented by Hon. O. L. McPherson who delivered an address. Discussion centred chiefly on level crossings, best available road paving, width of road surface, etc. The objects of the association is to collect and distribute information concerning highways legislation construction and maintenance in the various cities, towns, villages and municipalities throughout Canada; to stimulate and encourage in all ways, the improvement, construction and maintenance of roads; the whole from an educational and practical standpoint.

No Labor Troubles

Quebec is fast assuming importance as an industrial province. One outstanding reason for this may be that labor troubles are at the lowest minimum. They practically do not exist. It is possible that the church is a factor in maintaining this happy condition. At any rate, Quebec for this reason invites the consideration of prospective industrial concerns, and is building up tremendous manufacturing life.

In the country, the narrow far-reaching farms, with houses set close together still remain. These date from earliest settlement when fear of invasion from Indians, made it necessary that neighbors live close together. The province is rich in historic wealth, Quebec a city of monuments, and along the roads are numerous shrines of beautiful associations.

Politically speaking the people of Quebec are by nature Conservative and are drifting to their original faith. The records show that almost all constituencies which in 1926 gave Liberal majorities of less than 500 went Conservative in the 1930 election. This natural drift together with New Zealand butter worked the revolution of the recent election.

RED CROSS NEWS

Last Friday evening the Rev. Mr. Kidd of Okotoks and Dr. Powell of Calgary, met the members and friends of Red Cross congregation with a view to them having pastoral charge of their Sunday school and service. For some months back Red Cross has been supplied by a Vulcan layman and with a view to go into the Blackie-Ensign field in charge of the Rev. Mr. Farghar. We hope this change will meet with the approval of Red Cross and that they will rally around their new minister and have an active and successful cause.

After the meeting, the ladies provided a fine repast of coffee and cakes which was enjoyed by the large number present from Vulcan, Ensign and Blackie. The ladies were thanked for their thoughtfulness in this matter.

The Redlandview W.I. met at the home of Mrs. L. E. Richardson, seven members and three visitors being present. After the business was completed a card party was enjoyed by all. The prize winners were, first, Beryl Doane and consolation, Mrs. Robinson. A dainty lunch was then served by the hostess.

If we go to have a good time we usually have it, so let's go and have and give a good time at the Novelty Dance at Red Cross on 17th of this month.

Church service will start at 1:30 at Red Cross for the winter months. The services will be conducted by Rev. Farghar of Ensign. Every one welcome.

New Zealand is experiencing one of the coldest winters on record. The millions of germs on money and in kisses never made a man refuse either.

"Metis" Dancers for Quebec

From far-off Edmonton, outpost of Canada's wide West, to old Quebec, cradle of her civilization and gateway from Europe under both French and English regimes, a group of men and maidens of mixed French-Indian and Scotch-Indian blood will bring their tribute to the shrine of Terpsichore, when the Dance and Folk Song Festival opens at the Canadian Pacific Railway's Chateau Frontenac hotel, on October 16th, 1930.

There are twelve in the party and all proudly claim that their ancestry gives them the prime right to the title of "Canadian". The above drawing by Kathleen Shackleton, noted portraitist, made from life, shows the beauty resultant from the mingling of the European and Indian stocks. As performers, the Westerners have a varied programme to offer, including toe-dancing in moccasins.

Alberta Now Controls Natural Resources

On Wednesday, October 1, the Alberta Government assumed full control of the Natural Resources of the province. The keys of office were turned over by federal officials to Alberta authorities. With this consummation of a struggle, lasting over 25 years, the Western provinces now enjoy all the privileges of Confederation, and will assume their rightful place with the older provinces who have from the beginning controlled the administration of their natural resources.

On October first, about 100,000,000 acres of land come under provincial control. In addition, there are several million acres of coal leases, 3,000,000 acres of tar sands, 500,000 acres of petroleum rights, and nearly $10,000,000 of a school lands fund to be transferred to the province.

Revenue of approximately $1,000,000 a year, which formerly went to the Dominion treasury from the natural resources of Alberta, will now be diverted to the provincial coffers.

Alberta will also continue to receive its cash subsidy of $562,000 a year from the Dominion government, to be increased as the population grows. When the population, now more than 650,000 reaches the 800,000 mark, the subsidy will be increased to $750,000. With the population at 1,200,000 there will be an annual payment of $1,125,000 from the federal government in perpetuity.

Lands, minerals, forests, fisheries, and water powers which were formerly held by the Dominion now will be owned and administered by the province.

While the national parks remain in the first instance with the Dominion, the province is to have the right of mineral exploitation, and distribution of revenues is to be the subject of future agreement, should any question arise.

Some 74,000,000 acres of unsurveyed lands in Alberta are taken over by the province, while in the surveyed area there are 15,000,000 acres available to Alberta under the transfer.

The area of land that is classed as agricultural and which is now owned by the province is estimated at 50,000,000 acres, about half of which is in the southern part of the province.

Included in the surveyed area are 2,150,000 acres of timber leases, 2,900,000 acres of grazing leases, and the forest reserves already given. Up to March 31, 1928 there were 2,800,000 acres of school lands to be disposed.

Hon. R. G. Reid is to be the new minister of lands and mines in the provincial government, which will mean his relinquishing the portfolios of provincial treasurer and minister of municipal affairs. The crown lands branch will be under the charge of John Harty, formerly director of ordinance, admiralty and railway lands for the department of the interior at Ottawa. A number of subordinate officials have been appointed.

The transfer will affect, it is estimated, some 400 Alberta civil servants, who were employed by the Dominion government. No less than 150 of them live in Edmonton.
